Nathan Yong

As a boy, Nathan Yong would comb the beach near his home for small objects that he could transform into toys. “My brother and I would wait for low tide so we could pick up treasures from the shore,” he says. Today, working in the heart of Singapore, Yong has developed into a resourceful designer. When we first met him in 2012, his work captivated us with its quiet elegance, for which he credits the congestion of city living. “My work is a reflection of my yearning for nature in this concrete jungle.” For his Line Storage Collection, launched in 2010, Yong used strong horizontal lines to reflect natural landscapes and provide an elegant restfulness in dining rooms, offices and living rooms. With his Line Bedroom Collection (2019), Yong is delivering tranquility to a room where that characteristic is especially treasured.
